

BUFFERED C BENEFITS

For centuries, one of the most popular immune boosters has always been Vitamin C. Still today, this essential antioxidant is from the better-known vitamins as it is critical for the human body.

Some of the benefits of Vitamin C include better stimulation of neurite outgrowth, increased wound-healing activities and increased protection of the immune system, as well as more potent antioxidant and higher free radical scavenging capabilities. Additionally, Vitamin C plays an important role in wound healing, acts as a natural antihistamine and protects against viral and bacterial infections. It is also needed to make collagen, the "glue" that strengthens the muscles and blood vessels. Because Vitamin C is water soluble, the body cannot store it; hence a continuous supply is needed.

Zahler Buffered Vitamin C combines a highly absorbable form of Vitamin C together with the buffering minerals Calcium, Magnesium and Potassium Ascorbates to allow higher doses without stomach upset.

This advanced formula is easy on the stomach and non-irritating to the intestinal lining as well as supports proper muscle relaxation and contraction.

Why Buffered C?

Buffered C has the most notable benefits when you need to take this nutrient in large doses. When taken over long periods of time, high doses of Vitamin C can increase the risk of kidney stones, particularly in people with a history of oxalate stones. However, high doses of buffered Vitamin C may not influence oxalate levels, which means that buffered Vitamin C has less of a chance of producing kidney stones.
